General terms of use for IAU Blog

(www.iau-tech.net)

The present general conditions defines the terms of access and use of the International Association of Universities (IAU) blog on the role of technology in higher education www.iau-tech.net, hereinafter referred to as “IAU Blog”.

The IAU blog allows the user to access information related to IAU activities in the field of technology and articles published by external authors. Access and/or use of the IAU blog automatically imply unconditional acceptance and respect of all the terms and conditions described in this agreement.

Any user who refuses all or part of these general conditions is to give up the use of the IAU blog.

The website

Sitemap http://www.iau-tech.net is published by:
International Association of Universities (IAU) / International Bureau of Universities (IBU)
1, rue de Miollis – 75732 Paris Cedex 15
Tél: +33 1 45 68 48 00
Secretary General: Hilligje van’t Land
The IAU is an international non-governmental organization founded in 1950 and affiliated with UNESCO.

Hosting

The IAU Blog is hosted by Wix (https://www.wix.com)

The privacy policy of Wix is available here

Definitions

User: The user is any person who uses the Website or any of the services offered on the website. User content: The term "User content" means the data transmitted by the user in the various sections of the Website.

Access to the service

The website is available free of charge to any user with access to the Internet. All costs associated with access to the portal or relating to hardware, software or Internet access are exclusively the responsibility of the user. The latter is solely responsible for the proper functioning of computing equipment as well as for access to the Internet.

The IAU reserves the right to modify, restrict or remove any information from the website, at its sole discretion.

The IAU reserves the right to deny access, at its sole discretion and without notice, to all or part of IAU Blog and/or to one or more users.
Intellectual property

Use of the acronym, the logo and/or the domain name of IAU Blog is conditional to express authorization by IAU. This authorization must be requested in advance, in writing, and must be implemented and executed in accordance with the terms and conditions specified, including visual, duration and scope.

Content

The information contained in the IAU Blog is presented for information purposes. The IAU allows the users of the IAU Blog only to share this information and download documents for personal and non-commercial use. In accordance with Law N° 78 - 17 of January 6, 1978, relating to computers, data processing files and freedoms, you have the right to oppose, access, and modify data relating to you. You can ask, on simple request to the webmaster, that the information about you which is inaccurate, incomplete, ambiguous, misleading, out-dated, or whose collection, use, disclosure or storage is prohibited, be rectified, completed, clarified, updated or deleted.

IAU Privacy Policy (as of 25 May 2018)

The European Union’s General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) comes into effect in Europe on 25 May 2018. More information on this new regulation is available here.

The GDPR provides individuals with opportunities to control how personal information is being used and sets obligations. IAU is developing a GDPR compliant policy.

In accordance with GDPR, we are in the process of developing a new Privacy Policy. IAU policy statements are to be submitted for adoption by the IAU Administrative Board, which will next meet at the IAU International Conference in Kuala Lumpur in November 2018.

Data use

IAU, the global higher education association, created in 1950 is based at UNESCO, in Paris, and aims at Building a Global Higher Education Community.

IAU developed and maintains the IAU-UNESCO World Higher Education Database (WHED) and holds data sets related to activities to meet the needs of the higher education community globally, including for disseminating our communications, for international conferences, seminars, workshops, surveys etc. WHED data on Higher Education systems and institutions from around the world is provided by national bodies and individual institutions. It is used for the common good and not for commercial purposes.

IAU uses the data to connect stakeholders working in and on higher education around the world and to create the kind of synergies that are conducive to advance higher education partnership around the world by sharing information on higher education.

For further information, please contact IAU: iau@iau-aiu.net

Responsibility

Site content is delivered "as is." The IAU Blog contains information, documents and materials from various sources of information. The IAU does not vouch for the accuracy or completeness and neither the reliability of this information. The user uses it at his/her own risk.

Hyperlinks
To the portal
Any external website may provide a hyperlink to IAU Blog portal or any of its pages without the need to seek permission.

From the portal
IAU Blog offers, for convenience, a series of hyperlinks to websites published and/or managed by third parties, in particular higher education institutions including IAU members. The IAU has no control over these external resources. Also, the user acknowledges that the IAU assumes no responsibility for the availability and content of these resources.

Evolution of this agreement
The IAU reserves the right to change the terms, conditions, and notices of this agreement at any time. It is therefore recommended that the user regularly consult the latest version of the General terms of use available on the site www.iau-tech.net.